All the work that comes under the Anglicare umbrella in Willochra is conducted by local people for local people, whether it is the provision of small interest-free loans to enable people to purchase essential whitegoods or helping frail elderly people by providing good accommodation at The Willochra Home.

The work of Anglicare in Willochra relies on the goodwill and faithful commitment of ordinary people.

Around Australia, the Anglicare name is widely known and respected in the area of service provision for people in need. Here in Willochra, Anglicare operates at a local level only.

I hope you will support the work of Anglicare Willochra in your local area. I hope too that you will pray for all those who seek to find ways to make a positive difference to the quality of life in our wider communities.

Anglicare Willochra needs your financial support as well. Please be generous so that we may continue to expand the range of services offered as we seek to identify and understand the issues in rural, regional and remote South Australia and so fulfil our Lord's command to care with his compassion.

With all good wishes,

Bishop of Willochra

What does Anglicare Willochra DO?

Anglicare Willochra works with communities and churches within the diocese. We identify needs and issues in the area, and develop appropriate responses to suffering and disadvantage.

Anglicare Willochra does this through:

- Advocacy — being a voice for people and communities experiencing hardship, discrimination or neglect
- Co-ordination — we connect people and resources in the diocese
- Brokering — if a community or congregation in the diocese has a need, we help them find ways of meeting it
- Grants — finding and providing appropriate grants for churches and community groups
- Loans — providing access for no-interest loans
- Collaborative development — helping other people and groups develop their own responses to social and community need

How does Anglicare Willochra do all this?

- We identify key people within parishes as a point of liaison
- We seek opportunities for new programs and services across the diocese
- We work alongside churches as they identify and respond to social need in their own areas, and
- We speak out on issues of social concern

Anglicare Willochra is wherever people are working within the Anglican church in the Diocese of Willochra to improve life for people in need.

The Anglicare Willochra Committee is here to support the contact persons and, through them, you in your work in our communities

How can YOU be involved?

There are many opportunities for you to help the important work of Anglicare Willochra. We depend on you for support in all our endeavours.

- Could you be the contact person in your congregation? You could promote the work of Anglicare to those in your area and report back on local issues to the Anglicare Willochra Committee
- You may consider offering yourself as a member of the Anglicare Willochra Committee when elections are held at the next diocesan synod
- Remember Anglicare Willochra and our work in your daily prayers
- Tell us about the valuable work your congregation is already doing that matches the aims of Anglicare Willochra. Let us know how we can help extend that work

We are not a building, we are the people!

The best way you can help Anglicare Willochra is by letting us know how we can work with you
